About Stacy and Witbeck

Stacy and Witbeck is one of the country's largest heavy civil contractors and a top builder of light rail, commuter rail, and streetcar systems. We are recognized throughout the construction industry for our ability to manage complex projects while creating a cooperative relationship with owners, stakeholders, subcontractors, and the communities in which we work.

Stacy and Witbeck is interested in talented candidates with backgrounds related to construction management or engineering. We also seek individuals in related construction fields like safety, quality control, and contract management and top professionals in a wide range of career areas.
